Documents or information containing confidential proprietary and business information and/or trade secrets (“Confidential Information”) that bear significantly on the parties’ claims or defenses is likely to be disclosed or produced during the course of discovery in this Litigation. Specifically, at this time, Plaintiffs seek confidential, proprietary and/or trade secret information concerning, among other information, Defendant’s internal studies and data about the rate of battery capacity loss;

1 2. The parties to this Litigation may assert that public dissemination and
2 disclosure of Confidential Information could severely injure or damage the party
3 disclosing or producing the Confidential Information and could place that party at 4 a competitive disadvantage;

5
6 3. Counsel for the party or parties receiving Confidential Information are 7 presently without sufficient information to accept the representation(s) made by the 8 party or parties producing Confidential Information as to the confidential,
9 proprietary and/or trade secret nature of such Confidential Information; and 10

21 otherwise indicated below, all documents, including photographs, drawings, films, 22 videotapes or other writings, including lists or compilations thereof, answers to
23 interrogatories, responses to other discovery requests and deposition testimony

20 recipients not entitled to such materials under the terms of this Protective Order
21 and to prevent further disclosures except as authorized under the terms of this
22 Protective Order. Documents to be inspected shall be treated as "Confidential"

25
26
27
28

2 documents shall be stamped prominently "Confidential" by the producing party.

3
4 15. A party's inadvertent production of privileged or Confidential
5 Material or information in this litigation shall not in itself be deemed to waive any 6 claim of attorney-client privilege or attorney work-product protection that might
7 exist with respect to such document or other documents or communications,
8 written or oral, including, without limitation, other communications referred to in 9 the documents produced. Upon request, such inadvertently produced documents,
10 and all copies thereof, shall be sent to the producing party within five (5) days of 11 the date of the request, unless such documents have already been filed with the 12 Court. Furthermore, a party's production shall not be deemed a waiver of any 13 party's right to object for any reason to the admission of any document or thing
14 into evidence, nor shall the production be deemed an admission of its admissibility
15 or relevance. Nothing in this Paragraph shall prejudice the right of any party to 16 seek discovery or communications, documents and things as to which a claim of 17 attorney-client privilege or attorney work-product has been made.

18
19 16. The party or parties receiving Confidential Material shall not under 20 any circumstances sell, offer for sale, advertise, or publicize Confidential Material
21 or any information contained therein.

22
23 17. If any party receives a subpoena from any non-party to this Stipulated
24 Protective Order seeking production or disclosure of Confidential Material, the 25
26
27
28

1 subpoenaed party shall give notice, as soon as practicable and in no event more
2 than three business days after receiving the subpoena and at least seven business
3 days before providing materials responsive to the subpoena, to counsel for the 4 designating party, which notice will enclose a copy of the subpoena, such that the 5 designating party may assert its rights, if any, to non-disclosure.
6

8 18. Any documents produced by a non-party witness in discovery in the 9 Action pursuant to subpoena or otherwise may be designated by such non-party as 10 "Confidential" under the terms of this Order, and such designation shall have the 11 same force and effect, and create the same duties, obligations, and remedies as if 12 made by one of the parties hereto.
13

14 19. After termination of this Litigation, the provisions of this Order shall 15 continue to be binding, except with respect to those documents and information
16 that become a matter of public record. This Court retains and shall have 17 continuing jurisdiction over the parties and recipients of the Confidential Material
18 for enforcement of the provisions of this Order following termination of this
19 Litigation.
20

21 20. Within thirty (30) days of termination of this Litigation by dismissal,
22 judgment, or settlement, including any appeals, counsel for the party or parties
23 receiving Confidential Material shall return the Confidential Material, including all
24 copies to counsel for the party or parties disclosing or producing the Confidential
25 Material or alternatively, the parties shall provide certification under oath under 26
27
28

1 penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America confirming that
2 counsel have destroyed all documents within their possession. The party or parties
3 receiving Confidential Material shall ensure that any person to whom they
4 provided copies of any Confidential Information complies with this obligation.
5 This provision will not apply to court filings or file copies of pleadings, briefs or 6 correspondence maintained by the Parties' respective counsel in the ordinary 7 course of business.
8

10 21. This Stipulated Protective Order shall be binding on any party to this
11 Stipulated Protective Order or any person having executed the attached Exhibit A.
12 This Stipulated Protective Order also shall be binding upon the parties and their 13 attorneys, successors, executors, personal representatives, administrators, heirs,
14 legal representatives, assigns, subsidiaries, divisions, employees, agents,
15 independent contractors, or other persons or organizations over which they have 16 control.
17
18

19
20 22. If other parties are added to this Litigation, no Confidential Material
21 previously exchanged, produced, or used herein will be disclosed to such other 22 parties or their counsel except upon their agreeing to be bound by the provisions of 23 this Stipulated Protective Order. This provision does not prejudice any party's 24 rights to otherwise object to the production or disclosure of Confidential Material
25 or non-confidential documents or other information to a party added to this
26 Litigation.
27
28

23. This Stipulated Protective Order is without prejudice to the right of any party to move the Court for an order for good cause shown for protection of Confidential Material sought by or produced through discovery, which protection is different from or in addition to that provided for in this Stipulated Protective Order, and such right is expressly reserved.
